JJ uses Vibrato pretty much throughout so play along by doing so and you will get the feel for it.

*Just slide down slowly like JJ does at the end of his live versions.

Uses kind of a warble or crescendo here, get louder then softer before the pause.

On here, since you can't bend the 5 draw, I kinda use the crescendo like on the 6 or just in a sense turn the harp pulling it a little bit from the right to left away from my lips before dropping down. Or another thing is to kind of roll your head like you are slowly saying no. I know it sounds weird, but you kind of echo the 5 draw since you can't bend it. Never heard anything like this before with this note except for what JJ does here on Lochloosa.
